

VA VS OBM

Category 1: The "Doer" Phase

- I have specific tasks that are repetitive. ☐
- I have a written "Standard Operating Procedure" (SOP) for these tasks. ☐
- I have the time to check their work and provide daily direction. ☐
- My main goal is to save time on a budget. ☐

Category 2: The "Manager" Phase

- I have a team (or multiple VAs) but I am the one managing them all. ☐
- I have projects (launches, new products) but no project timelines. ☐
- I feel like the "bottleneck"—nothing moves unless I approve it. ☐
- My main goal is to save mental energy and get out of the weeds. ☐

Category 3: The "Strategic" Phase

- I need someone to handle my high-level communications. ☐
- I need a partner who understands my goals and can anticipate my needs. ☐
- I need help with complex meetings, or executive-level coordination. ☐
- My main goal is strategic partnership and total calendar freedom. ☐

The "Results"
